Museum Shop Gets New Look

Stepping into the DuBois Fort Visitor Center this year may be a very different experience. Several changes will greet our guests. First will be a revamped Museum Shop. Over the winter, the Historic Preservation crew at HHS tackled long-standing problems with the plaster and repainted the room. Rebecca Mackey, Visitor Center Coordinator, then went to work with the help of many of the staff at HHS. The goal is to streamline the guests experience and the look and feeling of the Museum Shop.

The results: a refreshed Museum Shop that is an even better backdrop for our unique merchandise; new products, including several items that are exclusive to HHS; and the reopening of a door directly into the Museum Shop, allowing guests greater access to the Shop

In addition to these changes, the rest of the first floor has been re-purposed. The large center room will now be used as a gallery where works from the collection and local artists will be shown. Local artists' work will be consigned with the Museum Shop, as is a current show by artist Diane Matsakis. The orientation exhibit and the installation about the Old Fort Restaurant have been moved to the western-most room.

Finally, upstairs guests will find a new and unique exhibit, Before Hudson. More on this can be found on page 1.

New Look and Logo for Museum Shop Website

Taking a quick "trip" to the Museum Shop website will open up a whole new retail experience. The website has a brand new look. You'll also notice a new logo.

Rebecca Mackey, Visitor Center Coordinator, and Richard Heyl de Ortiz, Director of Public Programs, worked with local design firm Kathode Ray Media, who are responsible for the new look of the overall HHS website. The goal was three-fold: 1) Give the Museum Shop website the look and feel of the Street and the Fort, 2) Make the site easier to navigate and more informational and 3) Allow for quick and easy adding of merchandise to keep the site continually fresh.

What you'll notice is a site based on other proven museum shop models. There is an easy category navigation bar along one side, and special feature sections along the top. In addition, when you visit the HHS website, you'll notice a revolving featured item from the Shop.

Watercolors by Helen Bevier Headline New Exclusive Products

Last fall Helen Bevier, treasurer of the Bevier-Elting Family Association, mentioned to President Mary Etta Schneider that she wanted to do something special to help support HHS. Schneider put Bevier in touch with Richard Heyl de Ortiz, Director of Public Programs. He and Bevier spoke about her idea to offer something new in the Museum Shop.

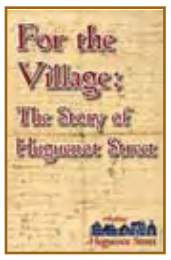
One of Bevier many talents is painting. She has put this talent to work to create nine beautifully rendered watercolors of the houses of Historic Huguenot Street and Terwillger House. In doing them, Bevier developed a special technique for depicting the intricate stone work of the houses and the church – with great success.

This is just one example of the exclusive products that HHS is developing. New postcards and framed prints based on recent photographs of the houses and the site are in the works, as are note card sets based on quilts in the collections at HHS. More will be following in the months ahead.

Framed prints and note card sets of Bevier's works are available from the Museum Shop. Note card sets can be purchased as an assortment or of just one house.

Notecards	$2.25 each
Set of 9 Notecards	$18.99
Framed Prints (11x14)	$75.00

For the Village: The Story of Huguenot Street
$11.95



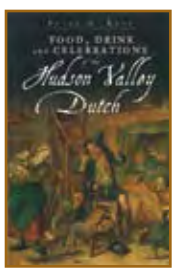
Tells the story of the brave men and women who fled persecution to create the unique village we know today as Historic Huguenot Street. The book, which includes rich, new full-color photographs of the street and the houses, also traces the growth and development of the street and the families who founded New Paltz. The history of each family homestead, including the houses of Locust Lawn, is also highlighted. Softcover. 48 pages.

Red and Yellow Ware
$28.00 to $34.00

Yellow ware pitcher and redware lidded jar draw their inspiration from items found in the Bevier-Elting and Jean Hasbrouck Houses. Handpainted wooden eggs are a wonderful complement to these wonderfully decorative and useful pieces.

Yellow Ware Pitcher (2 quarts)	$34.00
Red Ware Lidded Jar (approx 8" high)	$28.00
Handpainted Wooden Eggs	$1.69

Food, Drink and Celebrations of the Hudson Valley Dutch
$19.99



Written by Peter Rose, an award-winning historian of Hudson Valley Dutch customs and foodways (and a favorite presenter at HHS). Just in time for the Quadricentennial celebration of our Hudson voyage, this book highlights the interesting and sometimes forgotten culinary influence of the Dutch in the Hudson Valley. Rose's book includes photographs and easily-accessible recipes. Softcover. 160 pages.
